

UKCA Marking Guidance

From 31st December 2024 the use of UKCA marking will become mandatory in Great Britain (GB) for a number of product types that are currently CE marked. UKCA marking can also be applied currently on a voluntary basis. You should however note the following points:

Timeline

Further to the UK Governments announcement on the 14th November 2022, the timeline for implementing the UKCA mark has been delayed further to the 31st December 2024, providing businesses an extra year to comply due to the continuing impact of the COVID19 pandemic. To see the announcement click www.gov.uk/government/news/businesses-given-more-time-to-apply-new-product-safety-marking

Existing Stocks

Anything that is either already in your stocks or in the stocks of your GB supplier on 31st December 2024 will not require any additional marking and is valid with CE marking only. This includes products supplied to GB manufacturers by their non-GB sister companies where the sale took place before 31st December 2024.

Northern Ireland

Any products supplied by Northern Ireland (NI) manufacturers can continue to be sold in GB with CE marking only. Those NI products that are required to have third-party testing and it is carried out by a UK test house will have a UKNI marking to accompany the CE marking.

Construction Products

Products covered by the Construction Products Regulations are not subject to the same end-date as most other products so may not require UKCA marking until a later date.

Location of UKCA Marking

The UKCA mark may sometimes not be fixed on the product itself but instead be on a label, on packaging or on an accompanying document. Such documents could include manuals, instructions, invoices or shipping documents. This will apply to all products until the end of 2024 but for products where size, shape or other practical or economic reasons make it impractical to affix the mark directly to the product, the UKCA marking may continue to be on packaging or documentation.

Dual CE and UKCA Marking

As most products will be intended for global sales they will have both CE and UKCA marking. At present the regulations and related standards will be the same for both purposes so a single Declaration of Conformity (DoC) or Declaration of Performance (DoP) can apply for both purposes, as long as the relevant EU and UK Regulations are both referenced.

Importer Responsibilities

Some GB Distributors of products will now be considered as the Importer where products are bought directly from outside GB. Where this applies the Importer must both ensure that they have the product's DoC/DoP and that they have checked that the Manufacturer or their Authorised Representative has the relevant technical documentation for conformity available in case of a request from Trading Standards. The Importer name and address in GB must also accompany the product to onward customers.

Tel: (+44) 020 8783 0033
Email: diffusion@diffusion-group.com
Visit: www.diffusion-group.com

The information contained in this publication has been compiled in good faith and in accordance with Government guidance at the date of publication. No warranty is given or should be implied for its use and any liability that may arise from use of this publication is excluded to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law.